Pass Isles Golf Course Memberships Are Nearing Quota Officials State

Observations...

By UDELL

As a safeguard for the citizens of the community, the City officials have secured the services of Dr. Lizana again this year to vaccinate dogs against rabies. A City ordinance was passed last year requiring that all dogs be vaccinated. Dr. Lizana will be at the City Hall Saturday, April 5, from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. All dog owners are asked to bring their pets in as a safety measure.

Bay St. Louis will lose one of its enterprising young businessmen when Paul Tourne leaves this community to make his home in Picayune. Because of business interests in Picayune, which required most of his time, Paul has sold his interests in Tourne's Auto Parts in Bay St. Louis to Mr. Himel of Covington and Hammond.

We wish Paul every success in his Picayune business and welcome Mr. Himel and his manager, Mr. Magee, to our city.

With only one week left to the Red Cross drive in Hancock County, J. Cyril Glover, fund chairman, has announced that not even half of the quota of $5,437.00 has been reached.

This week, the local chapter office received notice that the quota has just been increased $200.00 for Hancock County and other counties in the country, to cover the rising expenses of the Red Cross in aiding victims of the tornado, the worst in decades, that struck in Mississippi, Kentucky, Tennessee, Louisiana, Alabama and Arkansas.

When approached by a volunteer worker for your contribution, give generously, and if one of the workers fails to contact you send your donation in to the American Red Cross, Hancock County Chapter, Courthouse.

Your dime and dollar will bring aid to some needy family affected by the tornado right here in Mississippi in Marshall County where 11 were killed, 23 injured, 17 hospitalized, 46 families affected, 22 homes destroyed and 70 homes damaged.

To the servicemen and their families, your contributions to the Red Cross will bring help and care when needed. GIVE TODAY! GIVE GENEROUSLY!

See where our City fathers are cleaning the ditches in town. This is a wise move, because now that the armies of mosquitoes are swarming into town, they won't have any place to light and breed. The ditches should be kept clean at all times to prevent these disease bearing pests from multiplying.

The staff of the Veterans hospital, Gulfport, will give an orientation course there April 16. The course, which generally takes three days to complete, will be completed in one day this year. The lectures start at 9:00 a.m. and end at 7:00 p.m., with breaks in between. Volunteer workers are needed to help in many of the programs to aid in the patients' recovery. Bay St. Louis has a number of residents who give their time and efforts to entertaining these men who gave their time and part of their lives to safeguard the lives and security of the people of America.

The Volunteer Services of the American Red Cross are in need of more workers to aid in the recreational programs of the veterans at the Gulfport hospital, but the workers must take this orientation course to prepare them to work with the patients. In order to take the course, any volunteer Red Cross member or not, must prepare for it this time because it will be months before the orientation is offered again, and as the number of patients increases, the more workers are needed. Phone Mrs. C. B. Beyer, 437, today, and make plans to attend the school in Gulfport April 16. Serve your fellow men who thought nothing of time and safety to serve you. Volunteer today!

The Junior Baseball Club, formed by Father Hugh Taylor, has elected its officers and will begin practice soon.

Farmers Must Use Plan For ACP Aid

To receive Agricultural Conservation Program assistance, the farmer must carry out an approved practice and must certify that the practice has been completed as specified when applying for payment, Fitzhugh Lee, Chairman of the Hancock County FMA Committee, advises.

He emphasizes that to be eligible for assistance the farmer first must fill out and sign a "work sheet" on which he has listed the conservation practice or practices he intends to carry out with the aid of ACP. After the approved conservation practices are carried out by the cooperating farmer, he must still make formal application for the share of the cost provided under ACP.

The decision to cooperate in the program is entirely up to farmers, the chairman explains, but when he has made the decision, he signs the following statement:

"I intend to participate in the above Agricultural Conservation Program and request approval of the practices listed above."

Only soil and water conservation practices which have been approved by the county FMA committee, State FMA Committee, crop and soil specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Secretary of Agriculture are eligible for program assistance.

He explains that the funds provided by Congress are intended to encourage and help farmers carry out essential conservation practices. The purpose is to help assure that the necessary production may continue.

The ACP in effect is a government-farmer partnership for maintaining and improving soil and water resources. It is a form of insurance that the resources upon which production depends will not be depleted, and that the national economy, health and welfare depending on them, will be maintained.

He points out that the help to meet the cost of conservation practices represents but a small part of the total cost of conservation activities carried on by farmers.

THE RED CROSS NEEDS YOUR SUPPORT IN 1952
How many of you noted how quickly Red Cross was on the job in the tornado stricken area? Did it not recall to many how quickly they were on the job when this area was so badly damaged in the 1947 hurricane? In sending out corps of workers the need was not questioned. It mattered not who they were, where, nor what the cost.

To make this assistance possible Red Cross must have YOUR support. YOUR dollars and your time.

Discuss Community At Rotary

It was through the concentrated work of a committee with the good of the community at heart, assisted by a sizeable donation from the county, that this project was successfully concluded.

The 1234 foot pier cost a total of $4,374, and the entire project is paid in full.

At the beginning of this program, the Legion contacted the U. S. Engineers who surveyed the waterfront and advised the group as to the type of pier to be constructed. They advised either a low or high structure. The low structure, because of cost, was selected, and in the event of high waters they will go right over the pier.

"I feel," Mr. Dickson stated, "that with this addition and the sand beach, it is quite an added attraction to the community. Summer visitors will have some place to go, and I believe that the merchants and professional men of the community will benefit from it because it will give the people something to do."

Ben Hille, Rotary president, congratulated the two groups on the work they have accomplished.

BANK OFFICIAL IMPROVING FOLLOWING OPERATION
William V. Robinson, vice president and cashier of the Hancock Bank in Pass Christian and Bay St. Louis, underwent an operation in Foundation Hospital, New Orleans, last Friday. A telephone call received at the bank from Mrs. Robinson in New Orleans Monday revealed that Mr. Robinson is getting along well and a speedy recuperation is expected.

PASS HIGH AFFILIATES FUTURE HOMEMAKERS CLUB
Miss Eroney Nicholson, assistant state supervisor of Homemaking Education, recently visited the Home Economics Department of Pass High School, and commended Mrs. Geraldine Orrell, students for affiliating with the head of the department, and her Future Homemakers of America Club. This club is a state and national organization.

At a recent meeting of the club membership cards were distributed and Mrs. T. F. Martsock and Mrs. A. B. Biggs were elected as Chapter Mothers. Mrs. E. L. Lively and Mrs. W. V. Robinson were named alternates for the Chapter Mothers. The club members together with their advisor and chapter mothers will go to Perkinston, on Saturday, March 29, to attend a district meeting.

The homemaking classes are now working on food problems and each of the 45 girls enrolled in these classes has planned, prepared and served a breakfast and a lunch.

Through actual practice, the girls are acquiring skill in selecting relatively inexpensive foods and preparing the different elements. The girls serve the meals attractively and are practicing courtesies that make eating a social function.

Last Friday afternoon an informal party was given by the home making girls; and Miss Marie Money, former home making instructor here, was the guest of honor.

OUR CHILDREN

The strength of the United States lies in the quality of its people, and the quality of its people depends on the education they receive. It is the duty of parents to prepare their children for school. In the home children should learn common courtesy to others, property rights, the importance of cleanliness, and the way to use - not abuse - public facilities.

We depend on our church and church school to develop within our children spiritual values, a sense of right, high qualities of character, and a sense of security when rightly taught will carry the child safely through troubled times. We depend on our way to become useful citizens schools to show our children the and to further strengthen character.

With the thought in mind that today's children are tomorrow's citizens - responsibility for child guidance should be shared. If you are not satisfied with today's youth - ask yourself where you have failed? These are the opinions of 10 leading educators throughout the United States.
